Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 09 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Often cloudy, with outbreaks of rain moving south. Cold tonight.

Today:
A cloudy day across the region with a band of rain, heavy at times, moving southwards through the morning. Rain persists over the south during the afternoon, whilst the north may become brighter but with scattered showers. Feeling colder. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Tonight:
Any rain or showers clearing through this evening. Clouds gradually fading overnight and under any clear skies a patchy frost is likely to form. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Saturday:
A bright start to the day, but cloud amounts soon increasing with the risk of some outbreaks of rain developing, perhaps turning to sleet and snow at times. Remaining cold. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Generally dry with sunny spells and scattered showers, perhaps wintry on Sunday. Changeable for Monday and Tuesday with sunny intervals and scattered showers. Feeling cold with overnight frost throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.